

PRIVACY POLICY Antigame Company

Last updated: September 2018.

1. General Provisions.

Antigame Company (hereinafter referred to as "We" or "Company") collects, stores and uses your information as a personal data operator in connection with and for the purpose of providing and developing games from Antigame Company, mobile applications, services and websites (hereinafter referred to as the "Services"), in accordance with the Privacy Policy of the Antigame Company (the "Policy" or the "Privacy Policy"), and also takes all necessary measures to properly process and protect the personal data of users of our Services.

This Privacy Policy applies to all information that we may receive about the user while using our Services.

All of our Services used on mobile devices, PCs or other platforms are governed by this Privacy Policy.

The text of this Privacy Policy for applications is posted and permanently available on the Site <https://github.com/AntiGamePro/antigamepro.github.io>

If you have any questions, comments or concerns regarding our Privacy Policy and / or the scope of its use, see below "How to contact us".

2. Terms of Use

By downloading, installing and using our mobile applications, services, games and websites, you fully accept the terms of this Privacy Policy and express your voluntary consent to the processing of your data in a manner and for purposes as described in this Privacy Policy. If you do not agree with this Policy, please do not use our Services.

The Company may from time to time modify and / or supplement this Privacy Policy without prior written notice to users. You need to get acquainted with this Policy with the frequency of once in a month for changes and / or additions made to it. If you continue to use our Services, you agree to the new edition of the Privacy Policy.

3. Identification of personal identification data or personal data.

Personal data or personal identifiable information means any information relating to an identified or identifiable individual.

4. Objectives of collecting and / or processing user data

The company collects and processes your data, pursuing the following purposes of processing your personal data, namely: the functioning of mobile applications, games, websites, as well as more convenient, quick and safe use of them for you. In addition, the transferred data can be used to apply to competent state bodies for the protection of human and civil rights and freedoms, including directly your rights.

5. How We Receive Your Information

The company receives some of your information at the time when you: create an account, use our Services or use game services, make purchases in the Services, create user generated content, view advertising within our Services, subscribe to receive newsletters, contact the service support Antigame Company users and participate in technical support sessions, participate in a contest or test conducted by Antigame Company, chat with other users of the Services, schaeete of interest to participate in the gaming tests, participate or make a contribution to the work of our social media channels and other websites or community applying for a job.

6. Information we receive

6.1 Information you provide to us

- Contact information (your name and email)
- Your age
- Your username and password
- Profile information (for example, your profile image)
- The information you provide by contacting our support team (for example, chat and support letters)
- Other information you provide (for example, the information necessary to identify a lost account)
- Access to your device (for example, accessing device memory,)

6.2 The information we receive automatically when you use our Services

- Information about your gaming progress and activity
- Information about your interaction with other players
- IP address and device IDs (for example, device ID, ad ID, MAC address, IMEI)
- Information about your device (for example, device name and operating system, browser information, including browser type and preferred language.)
- Information we collect using cookies and similar technologies
- General geolocation information
- Accurate geolocation information (GPS)
- Game ID Antigame Company

6.3 Information we receive from our partners

- The information we get if you decide to connect to a third-party social network (for example, Facebook or VK)
- • Information from our billing partners (if you subscribe to some games or make in-game purchases)
- Information for advertising or analytical purposes. So we can provide you with the Services of the proper quality

7. How do we use your information

Mostly, we use information to provide you with a proper gaming experience. We also use your information both together and separately, for the following purposes:

7.1 To conduct their activities and improve your gaming experience, including:

- providing you with Services suitable for your age and in accordance with the legislation of your country of residence
- providing game experience that you may like, and the functionality for which you are subscribed
- Tracking the use of the Services to obtain information about your gaming activity and understanding your preferences and aspirations. Thus, we will be able to personalize your experience, provide you with specially designed game offers and notifications and in any other way improve your gaming experience
- promotion of distribution in social networks
- registration of your participation in the contest and the opportunity to contact you in case of receiving a prize
- offer to take part in game testing (game tests)
- protection from cheating, criminal or fraudulent activities and for other security reasons
- Identification and correction of service problems and errors
- its use in administrative, analytical, research and optimization purposes
- collection of statistical data
- Compliance with all regulatory and legislative requirements and responding to all requests from enforcement authorities to enforce legislation on the protection of personal data and other law enforcement agencies

7.2 To provide you with support, communication with you and the ability to respond to all applications or questions that you send to our support of users.

7.3 To personalize our communication with you, including:

- managing your subscriptions and refusing to receive our newsletters
- contacting you for the purpose of offering Services or Competitions
- sending you, with your prior permission, promotional or marketing materials (we will give you the opportunity to refuse to receive such materials in the future)
- Providing advertising that best matches your interests, profile, and age and gender, and focused on your location
- ensuring and evaluating the effectiveness of advertising
- collection of any personal information that you can disclose through messages sent to you by the user or group of users through our messages, chats, posts or other gaming functions, as well as collecting the necessary personal information of the users you contact with in order to facilitate communication (Note: we will not collect any information sent outside the functionality of our Services, including e-mail or text messages)
- personalization of your content and suggestions
- sending you notifications (if you choose to enable this feature) - only for users who are already 13 years old, in the United States (16 years in Europe)
- For some of the purposes described above, Antigame Company can use and conduct analysis. Analytical information is required for the analysis of business activity and operations, promotes the development of products, improves the quality of products and services, is necessary for the personalization of content, advertising and making recommendations.

Our legal grounds for collecting and processing your personal information (for European users) are listed above.

- We will normally collect the information we receive from you only if:
- when we have your consent to this
- when we need personal information to fulfill the terms of the contract with you and provide you with Services, such as support services, troubleshooting and service errors, and prevention of fraudulent activities
- when processing of information is part of our legitimate interests (when we provide or evaluate the effectiveness of advertising or marketing campaigns, analyze your playing activity, protect or improve our products and services) and does not violate your rights, or
- when we have legal obligations to collect personal information from you

8. How we store your information

Antigame Company stores, uses and stores your information for as long as you play our games or use our Services, and during the period necessary to fulfill the purposes described in this Privacy Policy in accordance with the laws of your country of residence. We want to notify you that a longer period of storage may be necessary in resolving disputes, according to law or at the request of the police. In such cases, the collected information will be used and maintained until the issue is closed.

9. How we pass on your information

9.1 To the public companies

We use the services of third-party companies that have limited access to your information for certain purposes, such as administration, analysis, optimization, advertising, prizes delivery, marketing assistance, user service and data analysis. They help us in the implementation of these actions.

Such third-party companies have the right to use your information only for these purposes.

If you choose to use the services of social networks like "Share" or "Like" on Facebook or other social networks of third parties, using our Services, this may allow the exchange and collection of personal and non-personal information for both, and from such third-party social networks.

You should familiarize yourself with the policies of such third-party companies for more information on their methods of collecting information.

9.2 The authorities

We reserve the right to inform law enforcement bodies about activities that we objectively consider illegal. We will investigate or take measures to counteract illegal activities, alleged misuse or misuse of the Services or to protect the property or safety of others. We may also disclose your information if required by law or court order worldwide if the information relates to actual or possible malicious behavior.

In this case, we will take into account the current local legislation, the nature of the order, as well as the legitimacy and proportionality of your information.

10. Security and confidentiality of your personal information

We took security measures to protect and prevent unauthorized access, ensure data protection and correctly use personal information obtained through the Services.

We accept, and oblige third parties cooperating with us, to take the necessary preventive measures to prevent loss, leakage, unauthorized access, unauthorized disclosure, modification, destruction of Personal Information. However, please note that there is no way to transfer data over the Internet or any wireless network that guarantees 100% data security. As a result, while making every effort to protect your information, we can not guarantee its safety and do not assume any responsibility for unauthorized use or access to our information.

When contacting third-party companies for assistance in the processing of personal information or credit card information, we take all necessary measures to ensure that they comply with the terms of the Privacy Policy and other protection of the user's personal information, including credit card information.

In the event of leakage of personal information, including the leakage of data on the user's credit card, we undertake to immediately notify the user in accordance with local legislation regarding the notification of the Information Leak and take commercially reasonable steps to eliminate the results of such a leak.

11. Children

We encourage parents to inform their children about privacy and how their information is used on the Internet. Children should not disclose their name, address or phone number, or any personal information without the prior permission of their parents.

We consider the user to be a child if he is under 13 years of age, unless more stringent regulations are in effect in his country of residence. In EU countries, users under the age of 16 are considered children, unless the legislation of their country of residence does not specify a different age.

If we assume that any of our Services are provided to users who have not reached the minimum legal age set in their country of residence, we may block such users from using the Services or providing information and / or restrict the collection of information from such users, as detailed below.

Personal information should not be provided to Antigame Company by users who have not reached the minimum legal age set in their country of residence.

We impose the following restrictions on the collection of personal information from users who have not reached the minimum legal age established in their country of residence.

Such users can not:

- Disclose your real name or any other information in the games
- have access to chat, leader lists, forums, social networks (Facebook, VK, etc.)
- subscribe to newsletter
- use other functionality where users can appear under real names

In relation to such users, we will take measures to prevent the collection and use of data on their exact location and will only reproduce contextual advertising (with the exception of behavioral advertising).

Children can be invited to test our games (game testing) with the permission of the parents and / or the physical presence of the parents, depending on the country where the game testing is conducted.

Parents should use the rights to privacy with respect to children.

12. Your rights

We ask you to keep the information provided to us up-to-date. You can change any information provided to us by contacting us through this form.

You warrant and warrant that all information provided by you is true and accurate, and applies to you, and not to another person.

You can use your right at any time and contact Antigame Company for access, clarification or removal of your information. Under local law, if you are a European user, you may also require restrictions on the processing of your personal information, raise objections to the processing of your information or exercise your right to data portability.

Bear in mind that third-party companies (our data processing partners) can manage your information. You can receive detailed information and refuse to transfer your personal information to outside companies for any purpose by contacting us through this form.

If you previously agreed to direct marketing communication with us or subscribed to our newsletters, you can opt out by clicking on the link present in every email or mail sent to you.

If you want to opt out of using cookies or other tracking technologies, check out the Cookie Policy on our websites.

Please note that your actions may affect the functioning of the game, the Services and other functions. Some of your data and its processing are mandatory for the provision of Gameloft Services.

Your actions may require Antigame Company to terminate the provision of the Services. If the following conditions are met, your game will be discarded:

- If you request to change this mandatory information, we will not be able to link the game or Services with you.
- If you require data processing restrictions that are mandatory for Antigame Company, or oppose such processing (in this case we will not be able to provide you with a game or Services).
- If you cancel the consent or require the deletion of the information provided by you.

If you cancel your consent or ask us to remove your information, we will no longer use or process it, but will retain it to respond to regulatory or police inquiries. We also reserve the right to store an archive of such information for a commercially reasonable time to ensure that its removal does not affect the integrity of our data; and we reserve the right to retain an anonymous version of such information.

Please send your request through this form.

If you are the parent of a child under the age of 13 (or at a different age, as determined by applicable law) and believe that your child has provided us with information, fill out this form and we will remove the information from our system.

In order to preserve the confidentiality of your information, we need to properly identify you. For this reason, please provide us with a copy of the official document proving your identity. This copy will be safely destroyed within two months from the receipt and closing of your request.

Our team will review your request and respond to you within one month if your request does not require further investigation. If the investigation is required, you will be informed.

We remind European users that they have the right to file a complaint with the European Data Protection Supervisory Authority.

13. Third Party Services

Services may contain links to third-party sites that are beyond our control. This Privacy Policy applies only to how we process personal information and information that does not contain personal data that we collect through the Services. By accessing any third-party sites, you agree to the Privacy Policy of these sites. Please note that the policy regarding the collection, use and disclosure of your personal information on different sites may vary. We do not control and are not responsible for the methods of ensuring the confidentiality of such third-party organizations.

We recommend that you read the Privacy Policy of all third parties. Without limiting anything in the next section, we are in no way responsible for the actions, omissions or policies of any services by third parties.

14. How to contact us

If you have any questions regarding this Policy or the processing and use of your data in connection with the use of our Services, you can contact us at: Russia, Samara, ul. Eniseyskaya, 47/70, or by e-mail: antigamepro@gmail.com Your request must include the first name, surname, contact details for communication, as well as other information necessary for full and complete consideration of your request.